

Diocese of Gloucester Academies Trust

Freedom of Information Policy

Policy Statement

1. The Diocese of Gloucester Academies Trust is committed to the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (“FOIA”) which came into force on 1 January 2005 and which applies to Academies with effect from 1 January 2011. The Trust is committed to the principles of accountability and the general right of access to information, subject to legal exemptions. This policy outlines its framework for managing requests.

Purpose and Scope:

2. This policy is intended to provide guidance to all DGAT staff in respects for information under the Freedom of Information Act 2000.

Objectives

3. Under the Freedom of Information Act 2000, any person has a legal right to ask for access to information held by the Diocese of Gloucester Academies Trust. They are entitled to be told whether the Trust holds the information, and to receive a copy, subject to certain exemptions. The Diocese of Gloucester Academies Trust is under a duty to provide advice and assistance to individuals making requests under the FOIA.
4. The information which the Trust routinely makes available to the public is included in the Diocese of Gloucester Academies Trust FOIA Publication Scheme. Requests for other information are dealt with in accordance with statutory guidance. While the Act assumes openness, it recognises that certain information is sensitive. There are exemptions to protect this information.
5. The Act is fully retrospective, so that any past records which the Trust holds are covered by the Act. The Trust has a Retention Schedule based on the schedule recommended by the Records Management Society of Great Britain, which guides the Trust as to how long it should keep records. It is an offense to wilfully conceal, damage or destroy information in order to avoid responding to an enquiry, so it is important that no records that are the subject of an enquiry are amended or destroyed.
6. Requests received under the FOIA could be addressed to anyone employed by the Trust. However, all requests for information received should be referred to the Chief Executive Officer, who will decide firstly if the request is an FOIA request and secondly how it is to be dealt with and by whom. Staff need to be aware of the process for dealing with requests. Requests must be made in writing, (which can include email), and should include the enquirers name and correspondence address, and state what information they require. They do not have to mention the Act, nor do they have to say why they want the information. There is a duty to respond to all requests, telling the enquirer whether or not the information is held, and supplying any information that is held, except where exemptions apply. There is no need to create information which doesn't exist in order to respond to an enquiry, although gathering information from multiple sources should not be discounted. There is a time limit of 20 working days for responding to the request (but see appendix 1).

Implementation Date: 1 April 2014

Last Review Date: 1 June 2016

Next Review Date: 1 June 2018

Scope

7. The Chief Executive Officer is responsible for ensuring compliance with Trust Policies and Procedures. This policy and procedures applies to all Trust staff when requests for information are received.
8. Requests for personal data are covered by the Data Protection Act. Individuals can request to see what information the Trust holds about them. This is known as a Subject Access Request, and must be dealt with accordingly.
9. Requests for information about anything relating to the environment – such as air, water, land, the natural world or the built environment and any factor or measure affecting these – are covered by the Environmental Information Regulations (“EIR”). Requests under the EIR are dealt with in the same way as those under the FOIA, but they can be verbal.

Procedure: Obligations and duties

10. The Directors of the Trust recognise the duty to provide advice and assistance to anyone requesting information. The individual academies will respond to straightforward verbal requests for information and will help enquirers to put more complex verbal requests into writing so that they can be handled under the FOIA.
11. The Directors and Local Governing Bodies recognise their duty to tell enquirers whether or not they hold the information they are requesting (the duty to confirm or deny), and provide access to the information the Trust holds in accordance with the procedures laid down in Appendix 1.

Publication scheme

12. The Trust has created a Publication Scheme derived from the Model Publication Scheme for Academies approved by the Information Commissioner.
13. The Publication Scheme and the materials it covers will be readily available from the Chief Executive Officer, the Principals of each academy and from the indicated website.

Dealing with requests

14. The Trust will respond to all requests in accordance with the procedures in Appendix 1 and will ensure that its staff are aware of the procedures.

Exemptions

15. Certain information is subject to either absolute or qualified exemptions. The exemptions are listed in Appendix 2.
16. When the Trust wishes to apply a qualified exemption to a request, it will invoke the public interest test procedures to determine if public interest in applying the exemption outweighs the public interest in disclosing the information.
17. The Trust will maintain a register of requests where it has refused to supply information, and the reasons for the refusal. The register will be retained for 5 years from the date of the request.

Public interest test

18. Unless it is in the public interest to withhold information, it has to be released. Having established that a qualified exemption definitely applies to a particular case, the Trust must then carry out a public interest test to identify if the public interest in applying the exemption outweighs the public interest in disclosing it. For further details on applying the Public Interest Test see Appendix 3.

Charging

19. Most information will be freely available through the Trust and academies websites. Enquirers will be directed to the Trust / academy website if the information they request is available on it.
20. The Directors reserve the right to charge a fee for complying with requests for information under FOIA, other than information available through its website. The fees are according to FOIA regulations, (see Appendix 4) and the enquirer will be asked for payment of the charge before the information is supplied. Under Section 12 of the FOIA, the Trust does not have to comply with a request for information if the estimated cost of compliance exceeds £450 (see Appendix 4)

Complaints

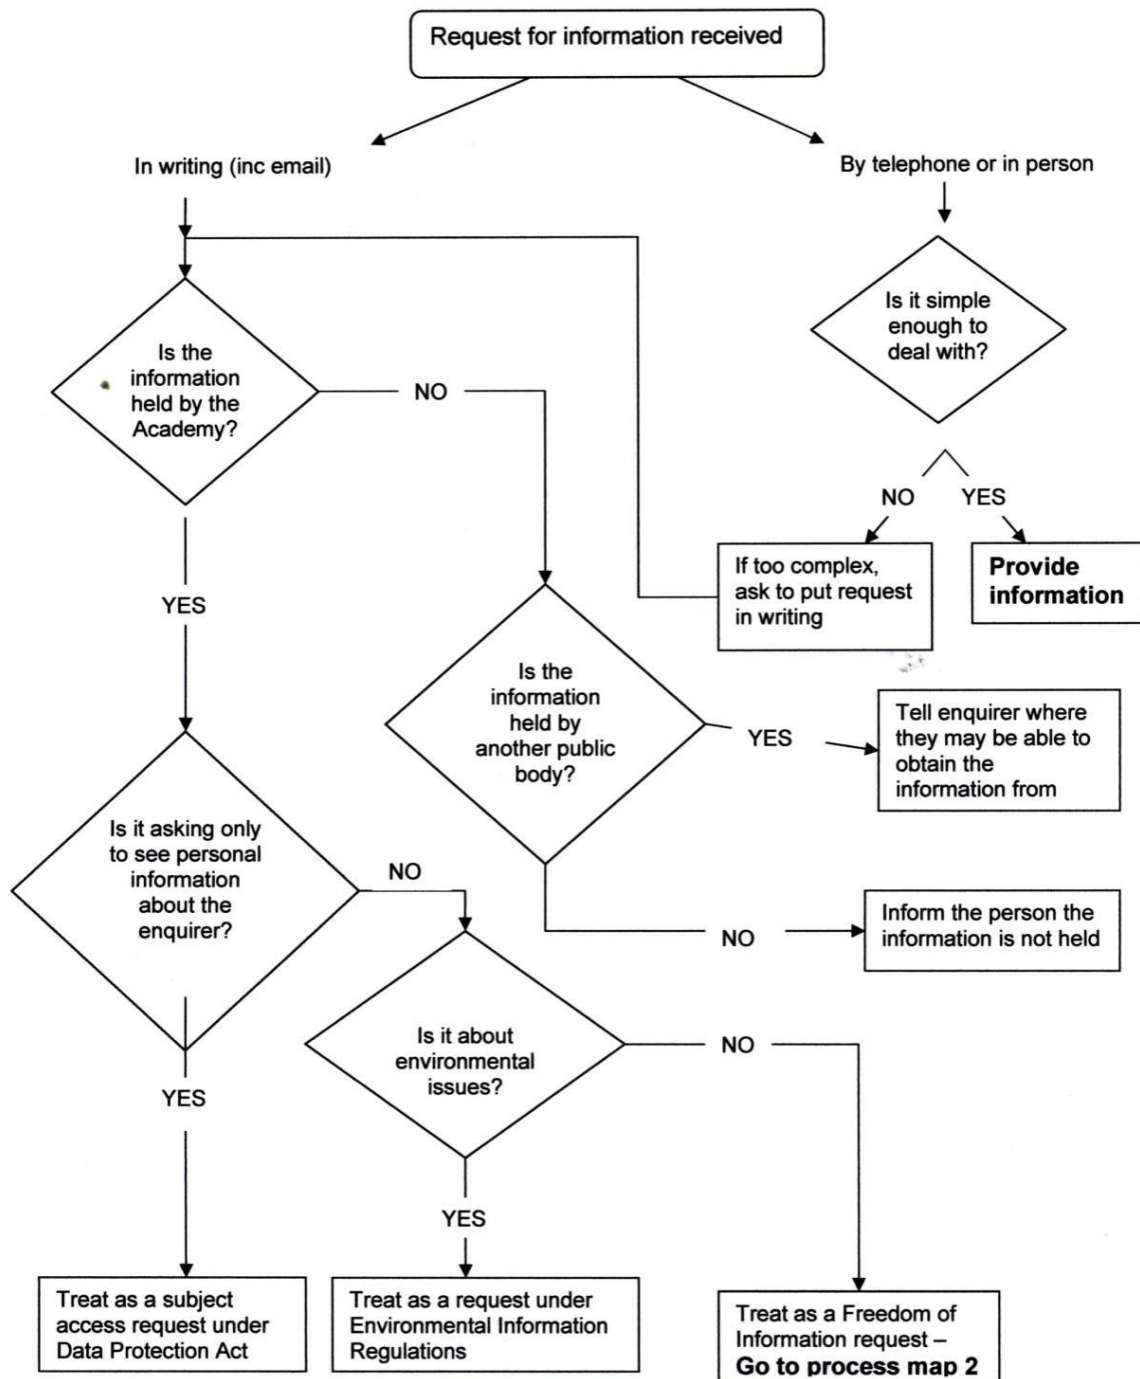

21. If the Trust receives any complaints in relation to requests made under the FOIA, they will be dealt with by the CEO. The CEO will investigate promptly the basis of the complaint, including discussion with the complainant. The CEO will investigate fully how the request has been dealt with and decide whether they agree with the information given or, if the request has been refused, the basis on which refusal has been made. The outcome of the review will be communicated to the complainant within 20 working days.
22. If, after investigation, the original reply to the request is unchanged, the complainant will be informed of their right to appeal to the Information Commissioner's Office.
23. Appeals should be made in writing to the Information Commissioner's Office at: FOI/EIR Complaints Resolution, Information Commissioner's Office Wycliffe House, Water Lane, Wilmslow, Cheshire, SK9 5AF

1 PROCESS MAP FOR RECEIVING REQUESTS FOR INFORMATION

Note: Verbal requests for information which fall under the Environmental Information Regulations will be accepted. However, enquirers will be asked to put them in writing if their request is unclear. Requests under the DPA and FOIA must be in writing.

2 PROCESS MAP FOR HANDLING FOI ENQUIRIES

In order that a request for information can be handled appropriately it is necessary to ask a series of questions. These are set out below and shown on the process maps.

Responsible Dept: Trust
 Implementation Date: 1 April 2014
 Last Review Date: 1 June 2016
 Policy Review Date: 1 June 2018

a) Is it a Freedom of Information (FOI) request for information?

A request for information may be covered by one, or all, of three information rights: Data Protection enquiries or Subject Access requests are ones where the enquirer asks to see what personal information the academy holds about the enquirer. If the enquiry is a Data Protection request, follow the Academy's Data Protection Access guidance. Environmental Information Regulations enquiries are ones which relate to air, water, land, natural sites, built environment, flora and fauna, and health, and any decisions and activities affecting any of these. These therefore could include enquiries about recycling, phone masts, playing fields, car parking, etc. If the enquiry is about environmental information, follow the guidance on the Information Commission's website or the DEFRA website. Freedom of Information enquiries are concerned with all other information and the reasoning behind decisions and policies. The request does not have to mention the Freedom of Information Act. All requests for information that are not data protection or environmental information requests are covered by the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA).

b) Is this a valid FOI request for information?

An FOI request should: Be in writing, including email or fax – (a); State the enquirer's name and correspondence address (email addresses are sufficient); Describe the information requested – there must be enough information to be able to identify and locate the information – (b); and Not be covered by one of the other pieces of legislation.

- i) Verbal enquires are not covered by the FOI Act. Such enquiries can be dealt with when the enquiry is fairly straightforward. However, for more complex enquiries, and to avoid disputes over what information was requested, the Trust ask the enquirer to put the request in writing or email, when the request will become subject to the FOI.
- ii) In cases where the enquiry is ambiguous, the Trust will attempt to assist the enquirer to describe more clearly the information requested. Where possible, establish direct contact. The aim is to clarify the nature of the information requested and not to determine the aims or motivation of the enquirer. If the Trust notify the enquirer that the Trust needs further information to enable the Trust to answer, the Trust does not have to deal with the request until the further information is received. The response time limit commences from the date the further information is received.

c) Does the Trust hold the information?

"Holding" the information means information relating to the business of the Trust which: the Trust has created, or the Trust has received from another body or person, or is held by another body on the Trust's behalf.

Information means both hard copy and digital information, including emails.

If the Trust does not hold the information, the Trust do not have to create or acquire it just to answer the enquiry, although a reasonable search should be made before denying possession of the information the Trust might be expected to hold.

d) Has the information requested already been made public?

Responsible Dept: Trust
Implementation Date: 1 April 2014
Last Review Date: 1 June 2016
Policy Review Date: 1 June 2018

If the information requested is already in the public domain, for instance through the Publication Scheme, the Trust or individual academy will direct the enquirer to the information and explain how to access it.

e) Is the request vexatious or manifestly unreasonable or repeated?

The Act states that there is no obligation to comply with vexatious requests. This is taken to mean a request which is designed to cause inconvenience, harassment, or expense, rather than to obtain information, and would require substantial diversion of resources or would otherwise undermine the work of the Trust.

The Trust will not comply with repeated identical or substantially similar requests from the same applicant unless a reasonable interval has elapsed between requests.

f) Could a third party's interests be affected by disclosure?

Consultation of third parties may be required if their interests could be affected by the release of the information, and any such consultation may influence the decision. The Trust does not need to consult where it is not going to disclose the information because the Trust are applying an exemption.

Consultation will be necessary where: Disclosure of information may affect the legal rights of a third party, such as the right to have certain information treated in confidence or rights under Article 8 of the European Convention on Human Rights; the views of the third party may assist us to determine if information is exempt from disclosure, or the views of the third party may assist us to determine the public interest.

g) Does an exemption apply?

The presumption of the legislation is that the Trust will disclose information unless the Act provides a specific reason to withhold it. There are more than 20 exemptions which are set out in Appendix 2 and are mainly intended to protect sensitive or confidential information.

Only where the Trust have real concerns about disclosing the information should the Trust refer to see whether an exemption might apply. Even then, where the potential exemption is a qualified exemption, the Trust need to consider the public interest test to identify if the public interest in applying the exemption outweighs the public interest in disclosing it. Therefore, unless it is in the public interest to withhold the information, it will be released. Appendix 3 contains guidance on conducting a public interest test.

h) Is the request for personal information about the applicant?

Personal information requested by the subject of that information is exempt under the FOI Act as such information is covered by the Data Protection Act. Individuals must make a "subject access request" under the Data Protection Act if they wish to access information about themselves.

i) Do the details requested contain personal information?

Personal information requested by third parties is also exempt under the FOI where release of that information would breach the Data Protection Act. If a request is made for a document which contains personal information whose release to a third party would breach the Data Protection Act, the document may be issued by blanking out the relevant personal information.

The procedure for redaction, or blocking out information, is to mask the passages which are not to be disclosed and then photocopy the document. Annotate in the margin against each blank passage the exemption and section of the Act under which the passage is exempt. Explain in the covering letter that the relevant exemptions are marked in the attachments and in the case of non-absolute exemptions, how the public interest test has been considered.

Under no circumstances should the document be rewritten, so that the resulting document appears as though it does not contain the exempted passage.

j) What is the cost of providing the information requested?

The Act allows governing bodies to charge for providing information. Details can be found in Appendix 4.

There is an exemption from the Trust's obligation to comply with a request for information where the cost of compliance is estimated to exceed the cost limit (currently £450). The first step therefore is to determine if the cost limit would be exceeded. Staff costs should be calculated at £25 per hour, regardless of which staff member would be undertaking the work. This means that the cost limit will be exceeded if more than 18 man hours would be expended. The Trust can take account of the time it takes to determine if the information is held, the time to locate and retrieve the information and extract the information from other documents. The Trust cannot take into account the time involved in determining whether the information is exempt.

If a request would cost less than the cost limit in force at the time of the request, the Trust can only charge for the cost of informing the applicant whether the information is held, and communicating the information to the applicant. This may include photocopying, printing and postage.

If a request would cost more than the appropriate limit in force at the time of the request, the Trust's policy is to refuse the request. In such a case, the enquirer would be contacted and asked if the request could be modified, in order to get the estimated costs below the limit. If the Trust did decide to provide the information requested it has the right to charge based on the actual costs involved.

It should be considered whether calculating the cost of the fee outweighs the cost of providing the information. For relatively straightforward requests, the Trust will consider responding free of charge.

If the Trust makes the decision to charge, we will send the enquirer a fees notice and do not have to comply with the request until the fee has been paid. Appendix 4 gives more information on charging.

k) Is there a time limit for replying to the enquirer?

Compliance with a request must be prompt and within the prescribed limit of 20 working days of the date of receipt, disregarding any working day that, in relation to the Trust, is not a school day, or 60 working days following the date of receipt, whichever is the sooner. Failure to comply may result in a complaint to the Information Commissioner. The response time starts from the time the request is received. Where the enquirer has been asked for more information, the start time begins when this further information has been received.

If a qualified exemption applies and The Trust need more time to consider the public interest test, The Trust will reply within the prescribed limit stating that an exemption applies but include an estimate of the date by which a decision on the public interest test will be made. This should be within a “reasonable” time – in practice, it is recommended by the Department for Education that normally this should be within 10 working days.

Where The Trust has notified the enquirer that a charge is to be made, the time period stops until payment is received and then resumes once payment has been received.

l) What action is required to refuse a request?

If the information is not to be provided, the person dealing with the request must immediately contact the CEO to ensure that the case has been properly considered and the reasons for refusal are sound. If it is decided to refuse a request, a refusal notice will be sent, which must contain:

- i) The fact that the responsible person cannot provide the information asked for;
- ii) Which exemption we are claiming to apply;
- iii) Why the exemption applies to this enquiry if it is not self-evident;
- iv) The reasons for refusal if based on cost of compliance (see Appendix 4);
- v) In the case of non-absolute exemptions, how the Trust have applied the public interest test, specifying the public interest factors taken into account before reaching the decision (see Appendix 3);
- vi) Reasons for refusal on vexatious or repeated grounds
- vii) Details of the internal complaints procedure.

For monitoring purposes and in case of an appeal against a decision not to release the information or an investigation by the Information Commissioner, the responsible person must keep a record of all enquiries where all or part of the requested information is withheld and exemptions are claimed. The record must include the reasons for the decision to withhold the information. Records are to be retained for five years. There are no requirements to keep records where the Trust have supplied the information requested.

m) What does the Trust do if someone asks a follow up question?

If an applicant requests a follow up question this is treated as a new request.

n) What does the Trust do if someone complains?

Any written expression of dissatisfaction (including email) – even if it does not specifically seek a review – should be forwarded to the CEO who will conduct a review of how the request has been

Responsible Dept: Trust

Implementation Date: 1 April 2014

Last Review Date: 1 June 2016

Policy Review Date: 1 June 2018

dealt with and of the information provided or, if the request has been refused, of the reasons for refusal. The results of the CEO's review should be communicated to the enquirer within 20 working days. The Trust will maintain records of all complaints and their outcomes.

When the original request has been reviewed and the outcome is that the information should be disclosed this should be done as soon as practicable. When the outcome is that procedures within the Trust have not been properly followed, the Trust will review procedures to prevent any recurrence. When the outcome upholds the Trust's original decision or action, the applicant will be informed of their right to appeal to the Information Commissioner. The appeal should be made in writing to:

FOI Compliance Team (Complaints), Wycliffe House, Water Lane, Wilmslow, Cheshire, SK9 5AF

Appendix 2: Exemptions

- 1 Although decisions on disclosure should be made on a presumption of openness, the FOIA recognises the need to preserve confidentiality and protect sensitive material in some circumstances.
- 2 The Trust will not withhold information in response to a valid request unless one of the following applies: an exemption to disclose, or the information sought is not held, or the request is considered vexatious or repeated, or the cost of compliance exceeds the cost limit (see Appendix 4)

The duty to confirm or deny

- 3 A person applying for information has the right to be told if the information requested is held by the Trust, and if that is the case to have the information sent (subject to any of the exemptions). This obligation is known as the Trust's "duty to confirm or deny" that it holds the information. However, the Trust does not have to confirm or deny if: the exemption is an absolute exemption or in the case of qualified exemptions, confirming or denying would itself disclose exempted information.

Exemptions

- 4 A series of exemptions are set out in the Act which allow the withholding of information in relation to an enquiry. Some are very specialised in their application, such as national security, and are not normally relevant to the Trust. There are more than 20 exemptions but the Trust is likely to use only a few of them.
- 5 There are two general categories of exemptions: Absolute – where there is no requirement to confirm or deny that the information is held, disclose the information or consider the public interest test, and Qualified – where, even if an exemption applies, there is a duty to consider the public interest in disclosing information.

What are the Absolute Exemptions?

- 6 There are 8 absolute exemptions listed in the Act at the time of writing. Even where an absolute exemption applies it does not mean that the Trust can't disclose in all cases; it means that disclosure is not required by the Act. A decision could be taken to ignore the exemption and release the information taking into account all the facts of the case. There is still a legal obligation to provide reasonable advice and assistance to the enquirer.
- 7 The absolute exemptions in the Act include: information accessible to the enquirer by other means; information dealing with security matters; court records; parliamentary privilege; prejudice to the effective conduct of public affairs; personal information; information provided in confidence; prohibitions and disclosures

For more information about Absolute Exemptions, please refer to the Act.

What are the Qualified Exemptions?

- 8 With qualified exemptions, even if it is decided that an exemption applies, there is a duty to consider the public interest in confirming or denying that the information exists and in disclosing

Responsible Dept: Trust

Implementation Date: 1 April 2014

Last Review Date: 1 June 2016

Next Review Date: 1 June 2018

the information. Guidance on carrying out the public interest test is in Appendix 3. The qualified exemptions in the Act are set out include: information available by other means; information intended for future publication; national security; defence; international relations; relations within the UK; the economy; investigations and proceedings conducted by public authorities; law enforcement; audit functions; formation of government policy; prejudice to the conduct of public affairs; health and safety; communication with the Queen; environmental information; commercial interest, legal professional privilege.

For more information, see the Act.

Confidentiality and Applying Exemptions

- 9 When considering if an exemption to disclosure should apply, the Trust will bear in mind that the presence of a confidential marking (e.g. Restricted, Confidential or Private) does not constitute an exemption and is not, in itself, sufficient grounds on which to prevent disclosure. Each case must be considered on its merits.

Timing

- 10 Where information has previously been withheld, it must not be assumed that any subsequent requests for the same information will also be refused. Sensitivity of information decreases with age and the impact of any disclosure will be different depending on when the request is received. Therefore, for each request, the Trust will consider the harm that could result at the time of the request and, while taking into account any previous exemption applications, each case should be considered separately.

Next steps

- 11 In all cases, before writing to the enquirer, the person given responsibility for FOI by the governing body will need to ensure that the case has been properly considered, and that the reasons for refusal, or public interest test refusal, are sound. To help ensure this, every case of refusal is reviewed by the CEO.

Appendix 3: Applying the Public Interest Test

- 1 Having established that a qualified exemption definitely applies to a particular case, the Trust must then carry out a public interest test to identify if the public interest in applying the exemption outweighs the public interest in disclosing it. Therefore, unless it is in the public interest to withhold the information, it has to be released. Although precedent and a case law will play a part, individual circumstances will vary and each case will need to be considered on its own merits.

Carrying out the test

- 2 It is worth noting that what is in the public interest is not necessarily the same as that which may be of interest to the public. It may be irrelevant that a matter may be the subject of public curiosity. In most cases it will be relatively straightforward to decide where the balance of the public interest in disclosure lies. However, there will inevitably be cases where the decision is a difficult one. Applying such a test depends to a high degree on objective judgement and a basic knowledge of the subject matter and its wider impact in the Trust and possibly wider. Factors that might be taken into account when weighing the public interest include:

For Disclosure Against Disclosure

Is disclosure likely to increase access to information held by the Trust?

Is disclosure likely to distort public reporting or be misleading because it is incomplete?

Is disclosure likely to give the reasons for a decision or allow individuals to understand decisions affecting their lives or assist them in challenging those decisions?

Is premature disclosure likely to prejudice fair scrutiny, or release sensitive issues still on the internal agenda or evolving?

Is disclosure likely to improve the accountability and transparency of the Trust in the use of public funds and help to show that it obtains value for money?

Is disclosure likely to cause unnecessary public alarm or confusion?

Is disclosure likely to contribute to public debate and assist the understanding of existing or proposed policy?

Is disclosure likely to seriously jeopardise the Trust's legal or contractual position?

Is disclosure likely to increase public participation in decision making?

Is disclosure likely to infringe upon other legislation e.g. Data Protection Act?

Is disclosure likely to increase public participation in the political processes in general?

Is disclosure likely to create a controversial precedent on the release of information or impair our ability to obtain information in the future?

Is disclosure likely to bring to light information affecting public safety?

Responsible Dept: Trust

Implementation Date: 1 April 2014

Last Review Date: 1 June 2016

Next Review Date: 1 June 2018

Is disclosure likely to adversely affect the Trust's proper functioning and discourage openness in expressing opinions?

Is disclosure likely to reduce further enquiries on the topic?

If a large amount of information on the topic has already been made available, would further disclosure shed any more light or serve any useful purpose?

- 3 Note also that: potential or actual embarrassment to, or loss of confidence in, the Trust, staff, or governors is NOT a valid factor to consider. The fact that the information is technical, complex to understand and may be misunderstood may not of itself be a reason to withhold information. The potential harm of releasing information will reduce over time and should be considered at the time the request is made rather than by reference to when the relevant decision was originally taken. The balance of the public interest in disclosure cannot always be decided on the basis of whether the disclosure of particular information would cause harm, but on certain higher order considerations such as the need to preserve confidentiality of internal discussions. A decision not to release information may be perverse, i.e. would a decision to withhold information because it is not in the public interest to release it, itself result in harm to public safety, the environment or a third party.
- 4 The Trust will record the answers to these questions and the reasons for these answers. Deciding on the public interest is not simply a matter of adding up the number of relevant factors on each side. The Trust will decide how important each factor is in the circumstances on make an overall assessment. This assessment will be reviewed by the CEO. If the reviewer disagrees with the assessment, it will be referred to another reviewer.

Decision for disclosure

- 5 Where the balance of the public interest lies in disclosure, the enquiry will be dealt with and the information required will be made available.

Decision against disclosure

- 6 After carrying out the public interest test if it is decided that the exemption should still apply, the Trust will reply to the request with the appropriate reply under the circumstances.
- 7 There will be occasions when it has been decided that a qualified exemption applies but consideration of the public interest test may take longer. In such a case, the Trust will contact the enquirer within the prescribed time limit stating that a particular exemption applies, but will include an estimate of the date by which a decision on the public interest test will be made. This will be within a reasonable time, normally no more than 10 working days beyond the prescribed time limit.

Appendix 4: Charging

Different charges apply for requests under the Data Protection Act.

Charging a fee?

- 1 FOI does not require charges to be made but the Trust has discretion to charge applicants a fee in accordance with the Fees Regulations.

What are the costs that may be taken into account?

- 2 The Trust will take the following into account when calculating the estimated cost of complying with a request for information: the prescribed costs:

The Trust may, for the purposes of its estimate, take into account only the costs it reasonably expects to incur in relation to the request in –

- a) determining whether it holds the information,
- b) locating the information, or a document which may contain the information,
- c) retrieving the information, or a document which may contain the information, and
- d) extracting the information from a document containing it and the disbursements

These are any costs directly and reasonably incurred by the Trust in:

- a) informing the applicant whether it holds information of the description specified in the request
- b) communicating the information to the applicant

Are there limits to the fee that can be charged?

- 3 Yes. If the Trust chooses to charge a fee for complying with a request for information, it must not be more than the sum of the prescribed costs and the disbursements.

What if the estimated costs exceed the cost limit of £450?

- 4 If the estimated cost of complying exceeds the cost limit the Trust is not required to comply with the request but may still choose to do so. The charge levied in such a case will be based upon the true costs to the Trust.

For all requests, the Trust has regard to the following points:

- 5 The duty to provide advice and assistance to applicants. If the Trust plans to refuse a request on grounds of cost it will contact the enquirer in advance to discuss whether they would prefer the scope of the request to be modified so that it would cost less than the limit.
- 6 The Regulations set out the maximum amount that can be charged. They do not set out a minimum charge nor prevent the Trust from charging no fee. The Trust will waive a fee for simple and straightforward requests.

May the costs be aggregated where there are multiple requests?

- 7 Where two or more requests are made to the Trust by different people who appear to be acting together or as part of a campaign, the estimated costs of complying with any of the requests is to be taken to be the estimated total cost of complying with them all, provided that:
 - a) The two or more requests referred to in that section are for information which is on the same subject matter or is otherwise related;
 - b) The last of the requests is received by the Trust by the twentieth working day following the date of receipt of the first of the requests, and
 - c) It appears to the Trust that the requests have been made in an attempt to ensure that the prescribed costs of complying separately with each request would not exceed the appropriate limit.

How will the Trust inform the applicant of the fee?

- 8 Where the Trust intends to charge a fee for complying with a request for information, it will give the person requesting the information notice in writing (the “fees notice”) stating that a fee of the amount specified in the notice is to be charged for complying.
- 9 Where a fees notice has been given to the person making the request, the Trust does not need to comply with the request unless the fee is paid within three months of the notice being received.
